

"PEACE FLEET" AT RIO JANEIRO

Officers and Men Are Being Royally Entertained by Brazilians This Week

One Third of Cruise to San Francisco Is Now Com- pleted---Thousands Greet Majestic Ships As They Sailed Into Harbor.

Rio Janeiro, Jan. 13.—The big fleet of sixteen American battle ships in the local harbor is today the center of attraction for Brazilians. Division flagships are moored abreast of Cobre Island, directly in front of the city. Liberty parties were allowed on shore today but were warned by officials that they would be held strictly accountable or their conduct each day until January 22, when the fleet is scheduled to leave. There will be elaborate entertainments for both jacksies and officers during that time.

The sailors of the Brazilian navy have raised a large sum by subscription which will be used to add to the pleasure of the jacksies and marines. No restrictions are being placed on visitors to the American fleet. These big fighting machines are a revelation to the average Brazilian. The Rio Janeiro authorities have notified Admiral Evans that they desire the American commander to land a marine guard to control the liberty parties ashore and this is likely to be done. The chief reason given was the dissatisfaction among the natives over the enforcement of the compulsory military service law. Officials are concerned that should the natives start trouble the American sailors might welcome the chance of a fight.

Rio Janeiro, Jan. 13.—The American fleet of 16 battle ships entered the port of Rio Janeiro at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon after a passage from Port of Spain, Trinidad, more than 3,000 miles, unmarred by serious accident, replete with interesting incidents and ending with a royal welcome from the thousands that had gathered to greet the visitors.

The fleet weighed anchor at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of December 20 at Port of Spain, and exactly at 4 o'clock yesterday the vessels were swinging at their anchor in this beautiful harbor.

All of the battleships are here, but the supply ships Culgoa and Glacier are still at sea, not having been able to keep along with the others. The fleet has now covered approximately 4,600 miles, about one-third the distance of the voyage to San Francisco Bay.

Early in the morning the crowds began to gather in the streets of Rio Janeiro, and long before the signal flags were hoisted announcing the approach of the American ships of war, thousands of curious spectators had taken up the points of vantage on public buildings and the elevated quays.

When the fleet steamed into the harbor, under the splendid mountains that framed the bay beautiful in the tropical sun, it was a spectacle incomparable to the eye. The roadstead lay like a glittering mirror beneath. Word that the fleet had passed Cape Frio, about 45 miles out was received at 8:30 o'clock, and immediately scores of tugs and other small craft crowded with spectators set out to meet the vessels and accompany them to the anchorage.

Outlined against the horizon the great battle ships stretched out in one long line, came slowly through the passage into the bay. The Connecticut, Rear Admiral Evans's flagship, was in the lead, with the Brazilian cruisers, dressed in gala attire, on either side. Passing the fortress the Connecticut fired a salute of 21 guns which was responded to by the Brazilian warships, the German cruiser Bremen and the shore guns. The yards and fighting tops were manned and cheers upon cheers were given for the splendid passage of the flagship and her sister ships.

gave a hearty welcome to Admiral Evans. Hundreds of launches, tugs and small boats circled about the battle ships until long after the sun had gone down. Not less than 18,000 to 20,000 persons were aboard these boats, and more than 50,000 others were gathered on shore to celebrate the coming of the fleet.

All the way down from Port of Spain the voyage was an enjoyable one and all on board the ships were well and seemingly happy.

CONFESSES

TERRIBLE DEED OF A TOLEDO: YOUTH WHO KILLS MOTHER WITH HAMMER.

Were Kneeling Side by Side—Had Been Brooding Over Financial Condition.

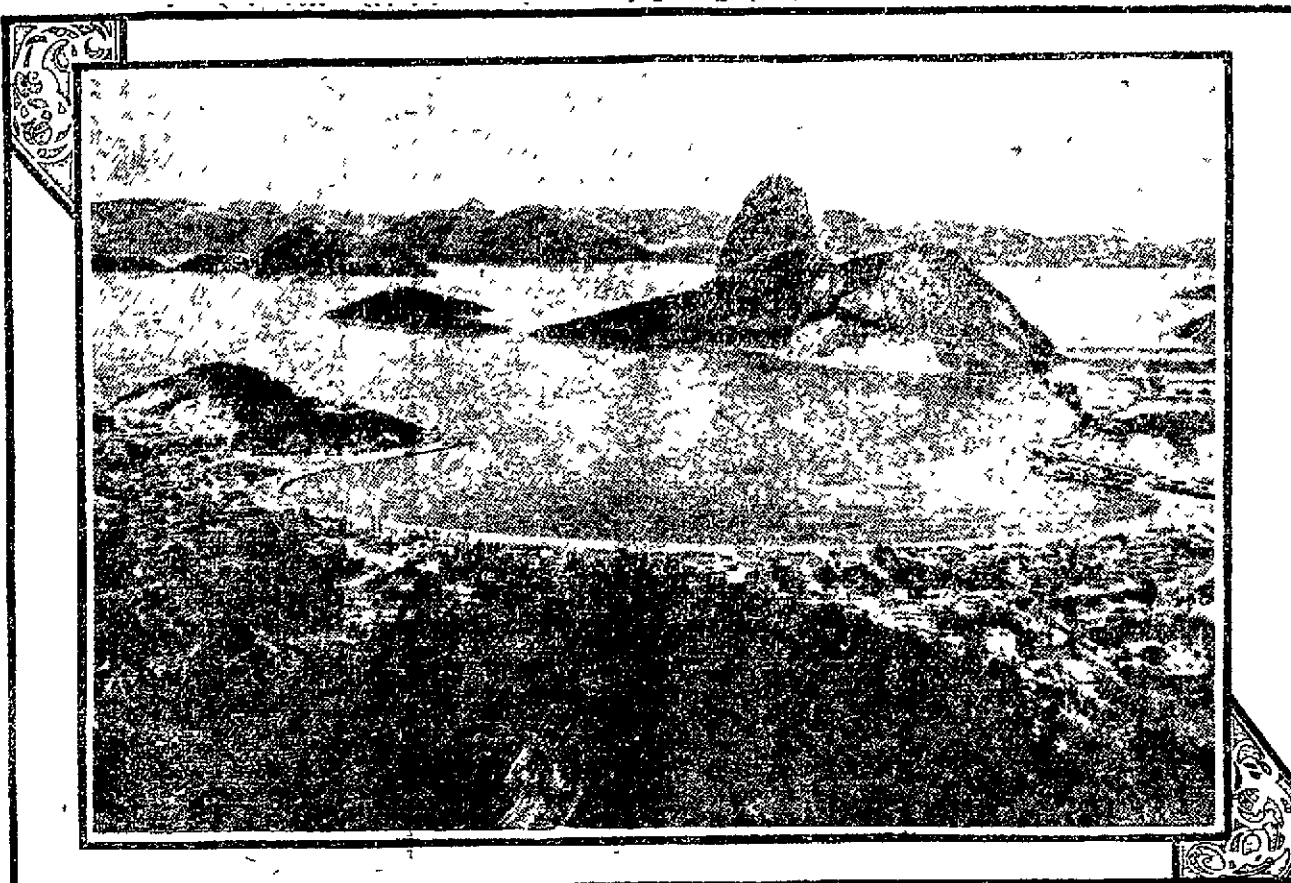

Toledo, Jan. 13.—Henry Hazen, 17 years of age, who was arrested early Sunday morning, confessed to the murder of his mother, who was found in the kitchen of her home with her head beaten to a pulp.

"I don't know just why I did it," said Hazen, "but we were kneeling side by side, repairing a screen door I had the hammer in my hand. Mother had refused to give me money. Her head was turned so that she could not see my move, and I slapped her on the back of the head. The blow only stunned her, for she half turned to me with an awful look on her face and then I swung the hammer again. This time I struck her on the temple and made the deep hole that killed her. Again and again I pounded her—how many times, I don't know."

Hazen had become so worthless that he had been compelled to leave home. He owed $35 board and asked his mother Saturday to give him the money to pay it. She refused. He accompanied her to her home from an uptown store and after eating dinner with her, helped her wash the dishes. Later, while they were working with the door, he killed her.

The lad then ransacked the house and took what money he could find. With this he paid his board bill and took a friend to the theater. In the meantime he called on his sweetheart. Because of his financial straits he was unable to get the girl. Christmas present and he had brooded over the fact a great deal. Hazen declared that his mother was his best friend. The boy has a fair education but has been wayward since a child.

JOLT

Received by Managers of Taft Candidacy in Ohio

PRIMARIES ARE ILLEGAL

According to Ruling of Sub-Committee of National Committee

Foraker-Dick People are Acclaiming Victory by the Decision.

Washington, Jan. 13.—The plans of the Ohio managers of Secretary William H. Taft's candidacy for president received a serious jolt last evening by the announcement that the subcommittee of the Republican national committee of the Republican national committee proposed primaries to elect congressional district delegates to the national convention were illegal.

The case came to the national committee from the Eighteenth district of Ohio, where the Taft committee, which is under the control of Representative Kennedy, had issued a call for primary elections to choose two delegates to the national convention.

M. B. Anderson, a Foraker adherent, raised the question as to the legality of the proposed primary by calling on Elmer Dover, secretary of the Republican national committee, for an opinion as to whether, under the call issued at the last meeting of the national committee in Washington, the proposed primary plan of the Taft delegates would be legal.

Mr. Dover referred the question to the committee on call, composed of three prominent lawyers—Frank S. Street of New Hampshire, Frank B. Kellogg of Minnesota, and John W. Yerkes of Kentucky.

The first two are understood to be Foraker men while Mr. Yerkes is anti-Taft.

In his announcement given to the press Secretary Dover says he has received replies from two members of the committee and both hold that the primary plan of electing delegates will not be legal.

While the opinion is not binding on either the national committee or the national convention, it is the opinion of those in a position to speak for Taft managers, that it will put an end to further efforts in Ohio to choose district delegates to the national convention by the direct primary plan.

The old Baber law, which the Bronson act superseded, permitted congressional district primaries, but under the Bronson law only county, township, and municipal primary elections are specifically authorized. The news which comes from Ohio is to the effect that no effort is likely to be made to have the legislature amend the election laws at its present session. If this is the case, then all the district delegates to the national convention to the number of 42—two for each congressional district—must be chosen at district conventions. These conventions must be called by the respective district committees, and the call must give 30 days' notice thereof.

How far into the spring this will throw the election of all the delegates from Ohio depends entirely upon which faction of the Republican party controls the various district committees. It is to be expected that the committees which favor the nomination of Secretary Taft will call early conventions. In districts where the committees favor Senator Foraker, it is anticipated that late conventions will be called unless it is certain that Foraker delegates can be chosen. How the district committees are divided between Taft and Foraker is not known here. Under these conditions it is doubtful whether it will be known to a certainty just how the Buckeye delegation will eventually be constituted, although, of course, it is believed Secretary Taft will have a majority of the members.

The judgment of the National Subcommittee, it seems, will add to the complications of the Ohio situation. Friends of the war secretary who leaned of it were not exactly gratified with it, while the Ohio Senators entertained the contrary sentiment. The Senators have been contending all along for delay in the determination of the issue between them and the Taft forces, while the latter have been exerting themselves to the utmost in settling the contest at as early a date as possible.

They realize that with the fight in progress in Taft's home state, head and in other parts of the country must necessarily be impeded.

Consequently the Foraker-Dick people are acclaiming the subcommittee's ruling as a victory for them and a setback for the Taft boom.

If at first you don't succeed don't succumb.

HARRY K. THAW'S TRIAL RESUMED

Mrs. Holman Will Testify for Defense and Claims Thaw Was Insane Before Marriage

Assistant District Attorney Garvin Makes Statement to Jury Scoring Prisoner---Thaw's Mother Will Go on Stand in Son's Behalf.

New York, Jan. 13.—Mrs. Charles J. Holman, who at the last trial of Harry K. Thaw for the murder of Stanford White, was wanted as a witness by the district attorney, may testify at the present trial—but as a witness for the defense. As the mother of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw she had ample opportunity to study Thaw and her opinion of him is said to bear out Littleton's contention that the accused has been suffering from progressive insanity for years.

According to information that reached Mr. Littleton from Pittsburgh, Mrs. Holman declares Thaw was insane long before he married Evelyn, that she herself was afraid of him, so violent were his actions at times. And she is willing to testify it is declared. Littleton will consider the question of calling her today.

Mrs. Holman, in a statement made today, accused White of bribing her son Howard to take personal correspondence from her desk and hand it over to him. These comprised letters from Evelyn Thaw to her mother and correspondence with White, Howard, Mrs. Holman declared, told her of this after the last trial ended.

The report that Mrs. Holman might be one of the defense's new witnesses bears out the assertion of Littleton, made when he first took up consideration of the case, that he would have no difficulty in keeping Thaw from the death chair at last.

The State expects to close within an hour after the opening of the afternoon session and then Littleton will open for the defense. He will likely consume the remainder of the afternoon, so that the actual taking of evidence in Thaw's behalf will not be until tomorrow.

Assistant District Attorney Garvin made the opening address for the state. Mr. Garvin's remarks were devoid of oratorical flash and consisted of a plain statement of the killing of Stanford White, as it appeared to the State. Concluding his address, Garvin said: "We contend that the killing of Stanford White was a deliberate and premeditated murder; that the defendant's responsibility under the law is absolutely apparent; that he fired three times to make his dastardly crime trebly sure and when the evidence is all in we shall ask you for a verdict of murder in the first degree."

Thaw was plainly affected as Garvin ended and conferred nervously with Attorney Peabody. Judge Dowling directed that the room to be cleared of all witnesses except the medical experts. Evelyn Thaw went with the others.

James Clinch Smith, brother-in-law of Stanford White, was called. He was in the Garden theatre on the night of the tragedy. He repeated his story of the conversation with Thaw, just before the tragedy, substantially told at the first trial. He was on the stand when the court recessed for luncheon today. Littleton was then conducting his cross-examination but had not shaken his story. "Mrs. William Thaw will testify in her son's behalf," said Attorney Peabody today. "Acting at the urgent request of Harry Thaw, she against the advice of her physicians, has decided to come to New York. She will leave Pittsburgh Thursday and may be called as a witness Friday morning."

THE BERLIN POLICE HAVE ORDERS TO DISPERSE ALL DEMONSTRATORS.

Berlin, Jan. 13.—Fully aroused by the violence of yesterday's disorders in which they found it necessary to use sabers against 40,000 determined socialists and nearly as many more sympathizers, the police today served notice that any further attempts at demonstrations will be met with severe repressive measures.

Orders have been issued to the police to be prepared to fire on the crowds of demonstrators if they refuse to disperse.

Three hundred sacks of ordinary mail and 25 sacks of registered mail were consumed.

THE ALDRICH BILL NOT SATISFACTORY TO MANY SENATORS

Washington, Jan. 13.—It is apparent that the Aldrich financial bill will be amended in some particulars before it passes in the senate. Democrats especially, as well as some Republican senators object to the proposed acceptance of first mortgage railroad bonds as security for the emergency circulation. They say that these bonds fluctuate in value too much to make them desirable as the basis of any part of the money of the country. The rate of the tax proposed on the new currency—half of one per cent per month—is also liable to change. A number of senators believe that it is not high enough to force the retirement of the currency as speedily as it should after the emergency bill has passed. A graduated tax is favored by many among whom it is said is Speaker Cannon.

The finance committee will begin consideration of the bill tomorrow. Senator Hansbrough of North Dakota, one of the Republican members of the committee, is not at all satisfied with the provisions of the Aldrich bill.

The Ice Crop.
The usual scare of an ice famine has started among local consumers of the crystal, and if the past weather conditions are to prevail throughout the entire season, there is plenty of ground for some doubt as to where next season's supply is to come from.
Ice dealers, however, are hopeful and expect to reap a big harvest before the season is over.

About Registration.
Mayor Atherton today received a letter from the Massillon Board of Trade referring to the registration of and money. They have prepared a petition that will be presented to the legislature requesting that this law be repealed. The letter requests that the mayor of this city bring the matter before the local Board of Trade, with the request that they take similar action.

SENATOR ATWELL
Thinks Initiative and Referendum
Will be Introduced This Afternoon.

Columbus, Jan. 13.—Senator Atwell of Licking county, said today he was satisfied that the initiative and referendum bill will be introduced in the Senate this afternoon. Mr. Atwell says he is satisfied there is no truth to the report that the brewers are trying to kill county local option by the initiative and referendum. As the latter bill now stands there is no appeal from a vote of the people, the veto power being taken from the governor.

LOOKING AFTER JEWELS.

How Gems and Jewelry Can Be Easily Cleaned.

It is better to keep jewels in boxwood sawdust instead of in velvet lined cases, as the sawdust is very cleansing. Rubbing with a piece of soft chamois is also a good polisher.

Many good jewels are discolored by water, and for these the chamois is absolutely necessary. Turquoises turn green if wet, and pearls become black. These stones may be cleaned by means of a gentle polishing with a piece of chamois or with a dry brush containing soft bristles.

To clean diamonds soak them in lukewarm water to which a few drops of ammonia have been added. Then take out each piece separately and rub with a soft toothbrush that has been dipped in lukewarm soapsuds made from pure castle soap, rinse in lukewarm water and put away to dry in the sawdust.

The sawdust gets in all the openings in the setting and so proves more cleansing than anything else you could use. When you take them out shake off the sawdust, and they will be found to be clear and brilliant without a flaw or the tiniest speck of dust.

To clean gold ornaments when adorned with gems soak them in soapy lukewarm water to which a few drops of ammonia have been added. Polish them thoroughly with a toothbrush and dry completely with a piece of chamois. Seal rings can in this way be made to glitter almost like diamonds.

To clean chains composed of close links between which all sorts of dust particles can collect put them to soak in a bottle containing a mixture of soapsuds and prepared chalk. After a few hours shake the bottle well and pour off the lather; then rinse in cold water and dry as thoroughly as possible.

"Maybe it is, but don't tell the grocer. He is charging us enough for everything as it is."

Jealous.

The Difference Between City Boys and Country Boys.

By JANE ADDAMS, Sociologist, Chicago.

WHEN a city boy of twelve or fourteen, that age which we sometimes call the "BIG INJUN" age, the age when a boy wants to show off to his companions, wants to climb higher and run faster and do all sorts of remarkable things which will dazzle his companions, does try to run down the street, does try to throw a stone as far as he can, HE IMMEDIATELY GETS INTO TROUBLE WITH THE POLICE or law abiding citizens.

The boy has this PERFECTLY NATURAL, NORMAL IMPULSE, but the only thing that he can do is to draw in, accept what you call his, say, "No, I cannot do that; I must stand still; I will get into trouble if I do that."

Now, what happens when a boy does that a good deal? He GETS INTO THE HABIT. His muscles, his mind, his nervous system, begin to think that the thing to do when you want to do a remarkable thing is NOT TO DO IT; when you want to excel yourself don't do it. When he becomes a man, when he goes into the factory and some difficulty arises in his work, all the habits of his youth, the habits which were recorded in his muscles, in his nerves, in his mind, arise, and he does not overcome it; he does not make his exertions; HE STOPS HIS EXERTIONS AND LEANS BACK UPON HIS STREET CORNER, SO TO SPEAK.

WHAT IS THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THIS BOY AND A BOY WHO COMES IN FROM THE COUNTRY, THE GOOD OLD FASHIONED SIMPLE AMERICAN THAT WE USED TO BE SO FOND OF? WE SAY THESE LATTER ARE THE BOYS WHO UP TO DATE HAVE MADE THEIR MARK MORE THAN ANY OTHER MEN IN AMERICA. WHAT HAS BEEN THE DIFFERENCE? MERELY BECAUSE THEY HAD THE CHANCE IN YOUTH TO OVERCOME THINGS, TO EXPRESS THEMSELVES IN PLAY AND ATHLETICS.

City boys have been brought up on street idleness, have been brought up on the false excitement which the street offers. They have had NOTHING WHICH WAS NATURAL AND NORMAL from their youth. We say give these same boys athletic fields, SOMETHING WHICH WILL CALL UPON THEIR ENERGY, which will tax their powers, which will make them courageous and preserve their power of INITIATIVE, and then we will be able to see if we cannot pit our city boy against the old fashioned country boy, who seems to have carried off all the honors of the past generation.

NEW ATTEMPT TO BURN DEPOT.
Woodfield, Jan. 13.—It is believed that another attempt was made to burn the B. & O. depot and telegraph office at Clarington. Since the station was burned on the night of December 29, and the operator, Edward Hutchinson was incinerated, a box car has been used as a station and telegraph office.

Saturday night the new operator, Frank O. Williamson, heard some one walking on the roof and he fired a bullet through the ceiling. The man ran to the end of the car and jumped off, Williamson firing several shots after him, but the fellow escaped.

Several arrests have been made in connection with the burning of the station and the death of Operator Hutchinson, but the mystery remains unsolved.

Ullery was leaning out of the engine of his train watching the rear when the train run by his brother William approached on the adjoining track. The locomotive struck him on the head killing him almost instantly.

KILLED ON HIS THIRD DAY.
Alliance, Jan. 13.—John Graham, aged 34, a Lake Shore railroad brakeman, was killed by a Pennsylvania passenger train here Saturday night. He had been working for the company only three days.

Accident Narrowly Averted at Licking Laundry When Minnie Hummel's Hair Caught in Machinery.

Minnie Hummel, 18 years old, living at 111 German street, had a very narrow escape from being scalped while at her work in the Licking laundry, Monday morning. Her screams and the prompt shutting off of the power was all that saved her from a terrible fate.

Miss Hummel was walking past one of the revolving washing machines and in some manner her long hair was caught in the machinery and was slowly pulling her towards the machine, when her screams attracted attention and the power that drives the machinery of the plant was stopped. She struggled frantically and endeavored to release herself, but without avail, and after the power was stopped some difficulty was experienced in releasing her. As it is she was not injured to any great extent. She continued at her work, although suffering from a slight headache.

CHANCELLOR ANDREWS RESIGNS
A special to the Chicago Record-Herald from Lincoln, Neb., that will be read with interest by many persons in Newark and Granville, says: "The resignation of E. Benjamin Andrews, chancellor of the University of Nebraska, is in the hands of the board of regents and will, it is believed, be accepted as soon as his successor can be decided on. Chancellor Andrews is serving his eighth year as head of the University of Nebraska. He has been antagonized bitterly at times since then, but his assailants have been from the outside. Inside the university he has had the loyal support of the regents, faculty and students. His resignation comes about from natural causes. His health is not of the best, and he is beginning to age. The work of the university is becoming too great for him and he is greatly in demand as a lecturer and public speaker. It is understood that he intends to make Lincoln his future home."

It is said that the Monaghan trouble near Fairmount, W. Va., is still having its effect on B. & O. coal traffic. It is responsible for a marked falling off in coal trains out of the mining district, and is also said to be responsible for the storage of 600 hoppers and gondolas on the sidings at Chicago Junction.

CURIOUS QUESTIONS

Asked of a Newspaper and Usually the Desired Information is Obtained.

Many and strange are the inquiries that come to a newspaper office from people desiring information on many peculiar and out of the way subjects, the impression being that a newspaper is a general storehouse of all kinds of information. And in a way it is.

Books on a hundred and one different subjects are kept there, and they are books not usually found in the average person's library. The average library of a newspaper contains books from the Holy Bible and dictionary to an atlas of the world, official reports of all the national and state bodies, even life history of the old time "jugs" or prize fighters are usually found.

Ting-a-linc, rings the telephone bell and a voice asks: "When was President Roosevelt born?" The next question may be, "Who was the first Mayor of New York city?" Those questions are easily answered, as is the one "When will the annual eclipse of the sun occur?" They are informed that June 28th is the day set. "Please, sir, we want to settle a bet," comes a young voice over the wire, "when did the rebels fire on Fort Sumpter?" April 12, 1861 they are told.

"Hello, Advocate! We want to settle an argument, what is the most valuable of American coins?" Their information is that the gold half eagle of 1822 is worth $200, the dollar of 1861 has a premium on it of $100. The next question is of a practical nature and the person is about to have or has had a deal with some foreigners. "Will you please tell me the value of a Hungarian gold crown is worth; also a Belgian gold franc?" They are informed that a gold crown is worth $20.3 in our money, a gold franc is worth in American money $19.5.

The next question was rather a long one to answer and the person that asked it did not tell her reason for wishing the information. "What are the divorce laws of Ohio?" all the grounds for securing a divorce in this state were furnished to her.

The following questions came in at different times and may prove of interest to the general public. The Knights of Malta was supposed to have been founded in Jerusalem in 1048, but there are no official records to that effect however. The Fraternal Order of Eagles has a membership of 27,589 according to the report made the last of 1907. The lodge of Red Men was first organized in 1763 in England, but it was almost three quarters of a century later before they organized in America.

Many questions come in regarding the theatrical folk. Among the queries have been: "Where was Maude Adams born and what was her real name?" She was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, and her real name is Maude Kiskadden. William Courtleigh's right name is William Flynn, quite a difference between the two. Mary Mannering's husband is James K. Hackett and they are not playing together. "Is that pretty Julia Henderson married?" gushes some feminine voice. She is, her husband is Tod Sloane, the jockey.

"Say," roars a man's voice, "Is Lew Dockstader, Dockstader's right name? You know what I mean, don't you?" He was told that his question was understood and that Dockstader was only a stage name, the famous minstrel's man's right name is George Alfred Clapp. "Do you know what the population of the United States is now, and also the population of Ohio," asks a very precise voice of a lady. "Yes, there are 88,912,058 people in the United States, and Ohio is fourth with a population of 4,557,000.

And so it goes, many people want to know the definition of a word and can pronounce it but get stuck on the spelling, so they phone to a newspaper and pronouncing the vexing word as the definition. Day after day new questions arise and many bets are won and lost on the verdict of the person in the newspaper office.

How to Beautify Eyebrows.

The eyebrows should receive as careful if not as frequent attention as the hair, says Harper's Bazar. With a bit of cold cream on the finger tip rub the eyebrows gently to loosen any possible dandruff, since they are often subject to this annoyance. Then wash them with a mixture of alcohol and water. Lastly, brush them, using the little brush on the end of the nail file. First brush them straight up toward the hair, then straight down, and the line will be fine and well shaped. If this treatment is used regularly the eyebrows will constantly grow more beautiful. Brushing up the outer tip after the last stroke downward gives a coquettish expression to some faces, but the curve or straight line designed by nature is rarely improved upon.

CAPTURES SNAKE

East Newark Man Goes Gunning and Returns With Large Reptile as a Trophy.

Every once in a while a snake story bobs up suddenly and this time the author of a beast is J. P. Harris, the well known barber at 219 East Main street. Mr. Harris and a friend Joe Reed, "went out scouting" last Wednesday up in the Licking county "Black Hills." When in a little ravine they saw something move in the underbrush and took several shots at the unknown monster with their revolvers. Reed tried to convince Harris that the unknown thing was a sea lion, but Harris stoutly insisted that sea lions never come east of the Rocky Mountains.

The monster continued to move and their ammunition was exhausted, but they charged and found the cause of all the trouble and the sea lion was only a small willow tree that had blown down. They then trailed a large snake across snowy fields for about three miles, and finally captured it and brought it back to Newark. It is now to be seen at the barber shop, and as Mr. Harris has a nicely trained and guarantees it to be a good house pet, anyone guessing the species of the reptile can have it.

VERTIGO

Attack Causes Man to Fall and Out Head on Pavement—Taken to Sanitarium.

While crossing the street at North Park Place, Saturday evening, Presley Priest, 67 years old, and a well-known farmer of Madison township, was seized with an attack of vertigo and fell to the street, striking his head on the paving and inflicting an ugly gash.

Patrolman Burke witnessed the accident and called the patrol. The injured man was placed on the stretcher and a hurry ran made for the Sanitarium. After his injuries had been dressed and the laceration sewed up, Mr. Priest was able to start for his home.

He is the father of Dr. Fred Priest a veterinary surgeon of South Fourth street.

POLICE COURT

Very Short This Morning—Coal Thieves Arrested—Edward Hoak Identified.

Police court opened Monday with four cases to be tried, and as none of them were very serious affairs, the session was very short. The first up was John William Allen, a saloonist of Union street. Allen was arrested Sunday morning at 1:40 o'clock by Officer Stinson on complaint of Aled guilty to the charge he was given $5 and costs.

Detective Doc Roberts has had all kinds of trouble lately, especially since the night became cold, with coal thieves getting in their way along the B. & O. Saturday afternoon he "jobbed" three foreigners, Katalina Mato, and Mike Andy of 89 Vail street, and Steve Marticon of 91 Vail street, just as they were throwing several bushels of coal off a B. & O. coal train. They spent Sunday in the city prison and were given $1 and the costs in police court this morning.

The man who gave his name as Frank Wilson and later was found to be Edward C. Hoak of this city, and who is under arrest at Springfield, Ill. on a larceny charge, was formerly an employee of the Hotel Seiler and worked there some time ago. He was also employed by Peter Ritzer, a meat dealer of 250 South Second street.

QUIET

Was Sunday in Newark and No Violation Reported—No Drunks in Two Days.

Another quiet Sunday was spent in Newark yesterday, and not a crack in the lid was reported. The day was a bad one as far as the weather was concerned, but money people were on the streets. However, everything was as quietly and orderly as could be desired. Not a drunk was arrested Saturday morning, afternoon or night, and Sunday was passed in the same way. Everything was as quiet as a Massachusetts town during the blue law period.

The Advocate's Evening Story

THE WIDOW BLISS.

Pardon's bank, as it was known for fifty years, stood on the corner of two streets in the business center of a populous Canadian town. The business had descended from father to son.

Besides its own building, the bank owned one face of the square, and this ground was covered with stores and the buildings rented from year to year. The one next to the bank was a two story brick and had been rented at different times for different purposes. Just now it stood empty, with a sign of "To Rent" in the window.

The banker was a man who was familiar with all the minor details of the institution. He accepted or rejected tenants and signed the leases. It was to him that the Widow Bliss applied for the vacant store. She was the widow of a New York inventor and electrician, and she had herself worked with tools and studied the science of various problems. She had an electric invention in mind and had come to Canada to perfect it. It was the problem of heat. She hoped to reduce its cost below that of coal or wood. She would have to fit up the building with an engine; dynamo, shafting, etc., but there would be no noise to disturb any one. In fact, her force of three or four men would work mostly at night, when there was smaller chance of outsiders prying into their secrets.

A banker may be a close observer of human nature, but when he is a widower and the other party is a good looking and well to do widow who is on the point of revolutionizing the heat problem and making it possible to keep warm at the north pole the machinery is apt to skip a cog. It did in this case. Mr. Pardon was interested in the widow, and if he could save coal by adopting her new invention that would be to the profit of the bank. The tenant went ahead and fitted up the place, and when all was ready she spent an hour showing her landlord the machinery and explaining its operations. He knew nothing whatever about any part of it, but he did know a copper wire from a telegraph pole, and he expressed his satisfaction and left the place. It was to call again, however. In fact, it was to call almost every day for the next six weeks. While the widow was always in her little front office after 2 o'clock in the afternoon, it was understood that most of the work in the cellar and shops was done at night.

If any one had told the banker that he was falling in love, he would have scorned the idea, and yet the other fellow would have been right. His admiration was growing day by day, and we all know that admiration is the first step in love. When he was in his room in the bank making loans or inspecting securities he decided to remain faithful to the memory of his dead wife. When he was in the shop next door listening to the widow's talk about fuses and short circuits and crossed wires he could hardly now himself back from making a proposition of matrimony. After two weeks men began to smile at each other. After four they began to wink. It would have hurt the banker's feelings had he known it, but the smiling and the winking were done behind his back.

Pardon's bank was an old fashioned building. As its outer walls were three feet thick, Pardon, the elder, had considered that a pretty good safeguard against robbers. Therefore when he erected his money vaults down cellar he used brick only—brick walls and an iron door. There was no watchman o' nights. Who could make his way into the bank past the iron barred windows and bolt studded doors? And even if once in there were more doors and bars to be overcome. With a wide awake and vigilant policeman in front the place was as safe as safe could be.

Two months had gone by since the Widow Bliss fitted up the shop and began solving the great problem. The banker hadn't demanded the second month's rent at daylight on the morning of the first, when it was actually due and overdue. But had waited till noon, when it was sent in. The widow had won his confidence and admiration to such an extent that had she wanted a loan of $25 he would have accommodated her without the customary two securities. Beyond admiration and confidence he didn't quite know his feelings. He was rather afraid of himself. He was afraid that if he proposed marriage she would refuse him and afraid that if he didn't he would miss a good thing and regret it ever afterward.

When he called on a certain afternoon he was informed that the heat problem would probably be solved that very night. He went to bed that night to kick around and wonder and ponder and make up and unmake his mind a dozen times over. He slept late and had a late breakfast, and it was half an hour behind his usual time when he reached the bank. He arrived just in time to hear a yell from the cashier as that individual, who had been down to open the vaults, came running upstairs. The vaults were open. They had been open since midnight, when the underground tunnel from the shop to the bank had been finished, and the iron door blown off. That's what the widow Bliss' men had been working at for many long nights. They and the widow had taken $90,000 from the vaults and left the town never to return. So nicely were their plans laid that they could not be followed a single mile.

The house warming problem had not been solved for the general public, but it had for Mr. James Pardon. He was robbed fifteen years ago, but he is warm yet.

Does War Develop Nations?

From the horrors of war have come many benefits unexpected at the time China will yet come to bless the day that she was beaten by Japan. The blood and agony of the civil war made America a nation. Italian unity had its foundation in the humiliation of Novara. France made her way to her rightful place among the nations from the miseries of Sedan and the commune. Wellington used to consider that the greatness of modern British arms owed its birth to Charles I and the efficacy of naval administration to James II. For good or ill, it is from the stricken fields of the Crimea that Russia's present greatness dates. Her stood alone against the world. Her exchequer was empty, her paper money no longer accepted. The great empire, built up by such labor and pain, was within measurable distance of dissolution. Sevastopol fell. Finland and Poland were on the verge of breaking away. All looked at its blackest. The conditions imposed in the peace treaty were humiliating in the extreme, but one by one Russia said out of them. The tremendous development which has taken place in Russia dates solely from that dark hour when all seemed so nearly lost. To say that light over night has triumphed would be another matter.—London St. James' Magazine.

How to Make a Gooseberry Pie.

When making a gooseberry pie, line a deep pie plate with a rich crust and fill with gooseberry preserve, sprinkling a little flour over the top. When baked, cover with a meringue or with whipped cream sweetened to taste and set on ice.

EVICTED OF TENANTS ON EAST SIDE.

New York, Jan. 13.—Landlords and away from their rooms without having the socialist agitators both claim victory in the east side rent strike, for the day came to a close with only nine actual evictions, although more than one thousand dispossession warrants had been signed.

Possibly two hundred families went by all the tenants had settled and they admitted that where conditions warranted it they had cut down the rents. The socialist exhibited a list of 120 houses where reductions of from $1 to $1.50 had been made for each set of rooms and they maintained the tenants were paying their arrears only when agreements for reductions had been signed.

every day. For Roquefort have the cloth dry and lay the package directly on ice, only keeping off long enough to serve. Keep the homemade in a jar or it will spoil.

How to Buy Shoes.

"People would find less difficulty with ready made shoes," said an experienced salesman, "if they would stand up to fit them on instead of sitting down. Nine persons out of ten, particularly women, want a comfortable chair while they are fitting a shoe, and it is with the greatest difficulty that you can get them to stand for a few minutes, even after the shoe is fitted. Then when they begin walking about they wonder why the shoes are not so comfortable as they were at first trial. A woman's foot is considerably smaller when she sits in a chair than when she walks about. Exercise brings a larger quantity of blood into the feet, and they swell appreciably. In buying shoes this fact should be borne in mind."

How to Clean Vases.

For the stains which often mark deep vases when they are in constant use the same treatment as that for water bottles should be followed. Put potato parings into the vase, with water enough to cover the stains, leaving them there overnight. Then empty them out and wash in the usual way. Repeat if necessary. A cleaning pad may be made by cutting a groove around a long stick near one end and tying securely by means of the groove a bit of cloth doubled up so that it makes a round, ball-like covering to the tip. With this all sorts of ugly stains can be got at which would otherwise be impossible.

He Won His Bet.

Thomas Nelson Page, while riding down a country road, met an old negro leading a horse and laughing as only a negro can.

"Sam," said Mr. Page, "what's the joke?"

"Oh! Maw'nin' marster. I jes' won a bet offen his byear fool boss."

"Why, Sam," said Mr. Page, "how did you do that?"

"Well, you see, boss, I was a leadin' dis byear hoss back yonder an' I seen a piece of paper ahead of us, an' I said, 'Blacky, I bet you a quarter you gwine ter be afraid of it.' But Blacky shook his head an' wouldn't. Then I said, 'Blacky, I bet you a quarter you will—will you take my bet?' An' he nodded his head. Well, sah, when we got up dar de wind flutter dat paper about an'. Lord bless my soul, you oughter seen dat hoss. He shy clean outen de field. Ha! ha, ha! An' dat's what tickles me—dat I'm a quarter ahead."

"Why, Sam, you are crazy. You can't collect the quarter from a horse."

"Yessah, dat I can! My master he'll give me a dollar tonight to git out an' buy fer dat hoss, but I'll git him 75 cents wuth an' keep my quarter. Ha, ha!"

"This book says the man was commanded to stand and deliver."

"Well, what of it?"

"How in the world could a man deliver anything if he stood still?"

"Never see a district messenger boy at work?"

How to Keep Cheese.

Housewives often are dismayed at finding the cheese which they intended to last several days at least quite spoiled the second day, and the fault lies entirely with the grocer, who must have sent bad cheese in the first place. Cheese spoils more quickly in hot than in cold weather, and the preventive is to keep it in the icebox. The fine imported varieties will not keep at all, not more than a day or two, says the Chicago Tribune, so it is best to consider just what kinds will and buy them only until cold weather comes. Roquefort, Camembert, the useful Swiss cheese and the home-made cottage cheese are about the only ones to be relied upon. Dip a piece of clean cheesecloth in salty water to wrap the Swiss cheese in and keep in the icebox, changing cloth

OUR TREES IN DANGER

Doomed Unless Native Birds Are Protected, Says John Davey.

HAVOC WROUGHT BY INSECTS

Our Only Hope Lies in American Birds That Feed on Them, Says Tree Lover—English Sparrow Must Go, He Declares—Cats a Serious Menace to Birds.

John Davey of Kent, O., whose lecture on trees and their diseases is attracting national attention, has been chosen to give the opening lecture at the great summer school in Chautauqua, N. Y., says the Kent (O.) Courier.

The intense interest recently shown in Dayton, O., and in Yonkers, N. Y., indicates that a great national campaign is about to be inaugurated for the restoration of the native birds.

William Dutcher, national president of the Audubon society, was at the Yonkers meeting and said: "I am an Audubonist not from an aesthetic but from an economic standpoint. Our societies will gladly co-operate with the civic leagues to help save the trees by the restoration of the native birds. The agricultural department at Washington informs us that $800,000,000 damage annually is done to the crops of the United States by insects and this through our folly and sins of destroying the native birds."

Mr. Davey shows in his lecture that in fifteen years Ohio and the adjoining states will be treeless if the "fall webworms" cannot be brought under control. Already they are throughout the woodlands, and it is beyond human power to control them. "Any tree," he says, "defoliated five years in succession will perish." Again, he says: "Going from Pittsburgh to Marietta on the B. and O. last fall I saw thousands of hickory and walnut trees standing—dead, killed by the caterpillars. They first attack the wild cherry, then the hickory and walnut trees, then the apple, elm, alanthus—indeed, anything and everything. The gypsy and brown tail moths are sweeping westerly from Massachusetts, and our only hope is from our God appointed friends, the American native birds."

The English sparrow must go, for it will not allow the bluebird, the oriole, wren or any of our insectivorous birds to stay near a human dwelling. These are driven from our homes by this abominable pest—the English "house sparrow." Then in the nesting season these innocent little fellow workers of ours (the native birds), whose main living is the larvae, grubs, borers, etc., become a prey of the hawk, crow, red squirrel and other enemies that prey upon them.

Passing through the woods at Mr. William Rockefeller's estate at Tarrytown, N. Y., one morning last May, I noticed the crows flitting from shrub to shrub. I called the superintendent's attention to it. "Why," said he, "there are probably a thousand crows in this region, and this time of the year they do little else but hunt for young birds. Within all these beautiful woodland surroundings there is scarcely a songster heard."

In a discussion following Mr. Davey's lecture in Yonkers the facts were there brought out that the domestic cat is one of the worst foes of the birds. Said a gentleman: "We have a pet cat. None of us has ever seen it catch a mouse or a rat, but last season it brought fifty-two young birds into the house." An Audubonist said that his society had considered the "cat nuisance," and there are estimated to be 60,000,000 cats in the United States, and that most of these would have to be shot or taxed out of existence.

Said Mr. Davey: "Without the trees man could not live. Without the aid of our native birds the trees will surely perish. I am told that in the south every boy big enough to carry a gun, whether he be white or black, spends his winter months in shooting and shipping robins, catbirds, orioles, redwings, meadow larks, etc., under the name of 'reedbirds.' Will the nation awake and save the trees by restoring and protecting the birds? Will not the newspapers speak to the people?"

Maine's Wasted Wood.

There are 15,000 cords of wood at a modest estimate going to rot in York county, Me., according to John Mercere, the agent for the Hildeford Record, who knows every cross-road and about every farm in the county. This wood is left by the portable mills in the shape of tops. It is not cut up, because it would cost more than it is worth to haul it to market, so it lies there rotting on lots stripped by the portable mills, says the Kennebec Journal. Mr. Mercere says that he was offered as much as he wanted of oak, maple and beech tops for 30 cents a cord. In some cases, where the stripped lots are near enough to make it worth while, farmers are saving their own wood and cutting up this refuse for fuel, paying 25 cents a cord. In one lot over in Lyman he estimates that there are 500 cords of good wood going to waste.

Wisconsin's Banana Crop.

The banana crop in Wisconsin is reported to be flourishing, and a full yield is certain, says the Washington Post. The crop is of six years' growth and is enclosed within the limits of one room in the horticultural station of the University of Wisconsin. In other words, the one tree in the university is also the only one in the state, and it is growing nicely. There is one small bunch of bananas on it.

F. A. HEINZE PLEADING "NOT GUILTY" IN FEDERAL COURT.

F. A. HEINZE PLEADING "NOT GUILTY" IN THE FEDERAL COURT.

New York, Jan. 12.—F. Augustus Heinze appeared before Judge Chatfield in the United States Circuit court and pleaded not guilty to the charge that on October 14 last he, as president of the Mercantile National bank, overcertified fifteen checks for more than $400,000. Judge Chatfield set January 20 for the hearing. The copier king gave $50,000 bonds to appear.

While Mr. Heinze, accompanied by his counsel, Edward Lauterbach, was in court, representatives of United States District Attorney Stimson continued their investigations into the banking methods followed by certain other national bank officials during the financial flurry of October and November. At Mr. Stimson's office it was said other indictments might follow the close of the inquiry.

CARE OF CUT GLASS.

Always Wash the Pieces in Clear, Tepid Water.

Many women have beautiful pieces of cut glass, but few of them understand the proper care of it.

The two most important points to remember are to be absolutely sure that only tepid water is used in the washing and rinsing and never to apply soap directly to the piece, either by rubbing it on directly or by rubbing on cloth and applying the cloth to the glass.

The proper method is to have a deep pan filled with tepid suds made from some good white soap.

Put the piece to be washed gently into the water and with a small, stiff brush scrub the dust lined crevices.

Have another pan of clear, tepid water, exactly the same temperature of the washing water, and rinse the glass in this until all traces of the soap have been removed.

Observing that the temperature of the water is the same for both rinsing and washing is most important. A great many of the deeply cut pieces are broken in washing because of failure to observe this rule.

The drying in the finer pieces makes them peculiarly susceptible to the slightest change in the temperature of the water.

For this reason it is an exceedingly risky thing to put very cold or very hot articles of food on deeply cut glass.

After the piece has been thoroughly rinsed and dried in a pan for a couple of seconds on blinding or blinding paper place it in a small box of sawdust to dry.

The sawdust must be made from soft trees to be successful in giving the high luster that this method alone secures. Such sawdust may readily be obtained at any chinaware or cut glass shop.

After covering with sawdust allow it to remain some few moments in the box to be thoroughly dried and then polish with any of the cut glass brushes that are suitable to the piece, giving a final rub with a soft cloth.

While alcohol and kerosene are frequently employed in the cleaning of cut glass, the soap and water method is really the most cleansing as well as the safest in the end.

In cleaning decanters and vases and articles of that sort the best method to use in connection with warm, tepid water is to cut potato parings into small pieces and drop, with a small handful of rice, in the decanter.

Let it stand for a few moments, then shake thoroughly and rinse in several waters and polish with camels and wrap in tissue paper.

Attractive Coffee Set.

A coffee set shown for four consisted of a stand of silver with handle to carry it. On each side were two silver trays in which were a cup and saucer and a tiny glass cup, a small silver sugar bowl and cream pitcher, small pair of sugar tongs; down the center a crystal cruet and a small silver coffee-pot.

DR. SENN'S ODD ADVENTURE.

How Noted Chicago Surgeon's Process of Identification Proved a Success.

Dr. Nicholas Senn of Chicago, one of the most widely known surgeons in the United States, who died at Chicago the other day, traveled in Wyoming several years ago, and in the small town of Sundance an odd adventure befell him, says the Chicago Record-Herald. He had a letter of introduction to a rancher called Walton, and, stopping the first man whom he met in Sundance, he said:

"I am looking for a chap named Walton. Do you know him?"

"Well," said the stranger, "there's a good man Waltons hereabouts. Which Walton might you be lookin' for?"

"John Walton," said Dr. Senn.

"There's our John Waltons in Crook county," said the native.

"This one keeps very fine stock."

"All the Waltons keep mighty fine stock."

"This Walton," Dr. Senn pursued, "is rather tight—you know what I mean—rather close fisted."

"Close fistedness, sir, runs in the Walton blood."

"Well, I am informed," said Dr. Senn, "that this particular Walton—I don't suppose the story is true, but they say that this particular Walton once stole a lot of chickens from his sister."

The other smiled faintly. "I reckon I'm the man you want," he said.

EARLIER NEWARK

(By Col. Charles H. Kibler)

(Second paper.)

In 1864, the streets were not paved, but to some extent were graveled. The sidewalks were few. There were no water works. Scattered public cisterns and the canal were relied upon for water to extinguish fires. There was no paid fire department, and the old-fashioned fire engines worked by hand were in use. There was no system of public sewers. The lights were candles, lard and coal oil lamps and artificial gas. The latter was furnished by the Newark Gas Light and Coke company under a franchise and ordinance January 7, 1857.

The public schools were early in the fifties organized under what was then known as the Akron school law, and were under the charge of a Board of Education, consisting originally of such citizens as Samuel D. King, Isaac Smucker, Abner W. Dennis, Adam Fleek, and Joshua Gibbs. Out of this school system have been evolved the present admirable school organization. The four years' course was intended to be very thorough. I am sorry that I have mislaid the curriculum or course of study adopted, for it would show if mastered, a liberal education for those days.

Forty-eight years ago, there were no baseball games—weekdays or Sundays—and no football ferocities. Sundays were days of rest and worship, rather than of recreation and amusements, though recreation, such as walking, riding and visiting, was usual.

During my term as Mayor I do not recall much trouble on account of the sale of liquors. Those who drank beers and liquors did not seem to be of opinion that it was necessary to get intoxicated, though there were exceptions. Of course there were saloons. The most patronized of them were in the room or part of the brick building just south of the Adams Express company office, and in the stone building on the North Side of the Public Square. These places have ever since been occupied by saloons, and have therefore that phase of venerableness. There was no talk of Sunday closing, and there was no law or ordinance upon the subject. I do not remember that the saloons kept their front doors open Sunday, but no doubt the enterprising thirsty ones could be accommodated.

by back-door entrances. Temperance societies of various names waged a continuous war against the saloon and intemperance. Among them was the organization called the "Sons of Temperance."

There was no board of health or health officer. People trusted to the doctor and good luck for the privilege of living. Fever and ague was common. The curative effect in dwellings of fresh air was either unknown or not much observed. There were then no records of births or deaths. The principal physicians in 1857 and for a few years before were Doctors John J. Bruce, Edward Stanbery, John N. Wilson, Daniel Marble and Benjamin W. Brice. There were other good physicians whose names I do not recall.

Are You a Trust Buster?

Hey—You!
Yes, YOU'RE the man we mean.

You're always talking about the harm the trusts are doing. The country's going to the demnation bowwows, you say, because of the uncurbed trusts. Rich growing richer, poor getting poorer. Used to be that a poor man could go into business for himself in a modest way and make a good living. Now he must become a clerk or a roustabout or a hod-carrier for some corporation—some combination that has grown to be a Goliath of bigness, that has devoured the fat of the land and is still gourmandizing upon it, till there's not a scrap of bone left for the under dog.

That's your line of talk. You're still handing it out, and you're proud of it.

Well, now, let's see: Are YOU a trust buster YOURSELF?

Didn't we see you stalk up to the postoffice just now and mail a letter with the address of a city Mail Order Store on the envelope? Hey? Didn't we?

Don't you know that the Mail Order Store is a trust—one of the most dangerous in the crowd? Don't you know that it is secretly and silently slyly closing the doors of opportunity to the young men in country towns and small cities like ours? Don't you know that the Mail Order Trust is collecting the patronage of town and country people by the mail route, thereby cutting down the patronage of the smaller merchant, the local man who is trying to build up a modest, independent, antitrust business?

Hey?

Didn't that ever occur to you?

N. B. (which means note well): Why don't you trade at home on lead of helping to build up a trust that huris your home place?

MAJOR DAVID THOMAS

ONE OF NEWARK'S FOREMOST CITIZENS ANSWERS THE FINAL CALL.

Was Identified With Early Industries of City and Had Splendid Military Record.

Major David Thomas, one of the best known men in Licking county, died at his home on West Church street, corner of Fifth, Saturday evening at 6 o'clock, after a lingering illness. Major Thomas had been suffering more or less with a general physical breakdown during the past two years, which was contributed to by abscesses and which resulted in death following a confinement of but two days.

Closely connected with the early history of Newark and its infant enterprises Major Thomas was the city's earliest capitalist; a leader, as shown later in his military history, a man possessed of the rare qualities that compel others to follow, having a character that held forth the higher, nobler ideals as a standard, all combined to give Major Thomas a prestige and standing that will always make his name remembered.

He was born in New York City on September 16, 1836, and came to Licking county about 1857, engaging in business with his father at Clay Lick, which was at that time quite a headquarters for canal employes and travelers. Highly interesting is the military history of Major Thomas, whose narrow escapes from death during the Civil war numbered more than one.

When President Lincoln issued his first call for volunteers, Major Thomas organized Company F, of the 95th O. V. I. He served as captain of his company until he resigned for higher appointment.

Major Thomas' army career was filled with many hardships, deprivations and daring adventures. In the battle of Richmond, Ky., he was wounded twice and his recovery was considered doubtful for some time. As soon as he was able to resume his position in command, he was appointed major of the 135th O. V. I., with headquarters at Columbus. In an attack upon the Major and a small party of men, the enemy was successful in making the capture of Major Thomas at North Mountain. He was then sent to a prison at Columbia, S. C. While in prison there, Major Thomas and some other Northern officers, planned a means of escape and successfully carried out the scheme. Their liberty was destined to be of short duration, however, and they were soon run down by bloodhounds and taken to Charleston, where Major Thomas was held a prisoner for ten long months, during which the suffering that he withstood was of the sort better described by those war veterans who experienced the horrors of the Southern prisons.

At the close of the war, Major Thomas came to Newark, and, with his father, the late Mr. David Thomas, established the Thomas Flouring Mill, in 1868. From the very start this enterprise was a success and upon the death of Mr. David Thomas, Sr., in 1886, Major Thomas assumed full control of the business, which he successfully conducted until he retired from the business. After having been engaged in the milling business for 35 years he sold the flour mill to Hulshizer Brothers, Sept. 27, 1903.

Major Thomas was married to Miss Mary Franklin, eldest daughter of the late John Franklin, Sr., on June 4, 1878. Two daughters, Mrs. Charles Mcgee of Kenton, O. and Miss Hazel Thomas of this city, were born to her and brighten this union.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters and four sisters: Mrs. William L. Greene and Mrs. C. M. Dean, both of Bayonne, N. J.; Mrs. Anson White of this city; and Mrs. George A. Shields of Sacramento, Cal.

At the time of his death, and for the past twelve years, Major Thomas was a member of the vestry of Trinity Episcopal church. He was also past post commander of Lemert Post, No. 71, G. A. R., and was identified with the order of Odd Fellows.

The funeral service will be conducted by the Rev. Lewis P. Franklin, rector of Trinity, at the church, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Accidents will happen, but the best-regulated families keep Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil for such emergencies. It subdues the pain and heals the sores.

OLD PEOPLE OF NEWARK NEED VINOL

It Strengthens and Vitalizes.

With old age comes feebleness and loss of power; the organs act more slowly and less effectually; the blood is thin, sluggish and watery; digestion is weak and food is not assimilated as it used to be.

Vinol repairs worn tissues and checks the natural decline. It tones up the digestive organs, aids assimilation, makes rich, red blood, and strengthens every organ in the body. In this natural manner Vinol replaces weakness with strength.

Vinol is not a patent medicine but a delicious egg liver preparation which contains all the medicinal body-building elements of cod liver oil in a concentrated form, taken from fresh cods' livers, the useless oil eliminated and tonic iron added.

It is because we know so well of what Vinol is made that we offer to return money if it fails to benefit. Frank D. Hall, Druggist, Newark, O.

CITY COUNCIL

May Not Take Up Water Works Question at Special Meeting To Be Held Tonight.

It is altogether probable that the city council, which will meet in special session this evening will not take up the water works question until the next regular meeting, which is to be held next Monday night. The reason for this is that after the finance committee got together this afternoon, it developed that there had been a misunderstanding regarding the rental price alleged to have been made to the city by the old waterworks company.

The finance committee, composed of Messrs. Kuster, Fulton and Orr, drafted a recommendation of the Fulton ordinance, in introduced at last Monday's meeting, and would have presented it to the body this evening. The ordinance provides for the levying of 1 per cent of the city tax duplicate and the issuing of bonds to the extent of $85,000, with which to complete the much needed thirty miles of pipe and plugs. However, after the meeting of the committee, one of its members held a short conference with Mr. William Veach, which brought out the fact that there had been a misunderstanding as to the rental fee asked by the old water works company for the hydrants desired by the city.

A member of the committee stated Monday:

"There is a considerable amount of piping that the present specifications do not cover, and in parts of the city where fire protection is much needed. At a caucus held week before last, Mr. Taylor, of the board of public service, informed us that the board had asked the old waterworks company for a rate on the 45 plugs needed for fire protection. He said that the company refused to make a rate on any part of the system, saying that 45 plugs would cost us $1100 a month, or, in other words, the same rental that we are now paying for the whole thing."

Mr. Veach is quoted as saying to the finance committee that there was some misunderstanding about the rate to be charged, and that the company would be willing to make the city a rate within reason. It is hinted that this rate would be in the neighborhood of the old scale, which was $48 per hydrant for the first 200 hydrants and $45 for each one installed thereafter.

This puts a different phase on the question and it is now probable that the city will consider the rental of the plugs from the water company. At any rate, the matter will be up to the council shortly. It is stated that Mr. Veach will make a proposition for rental to the city at any time.

After the expiration of the company's contract in September, no new one was entered into as required by law, but when the water rent came due the draft was sent the company according to the old scale. It was returned, as was also a second one. The city solicitor then received advice from the attorney general to the effect that the city could not pay money out on an implied contract. The matter was then dropped.
